TOP 10 DALEK BLASTS

10

Lynda

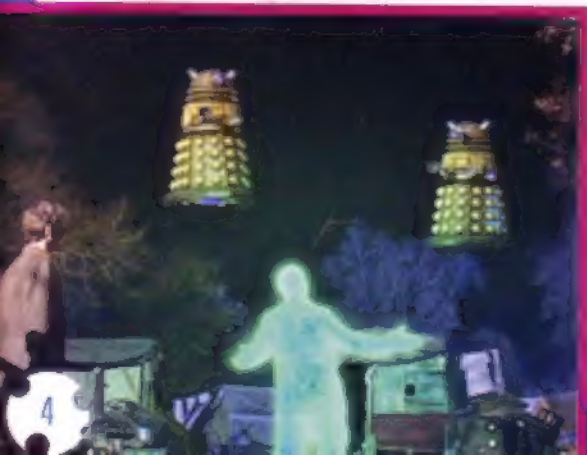

Poor Lynda thought she was safe until Daleks blasted through a window on Satellite Five. Oh no!

9

Hooverville

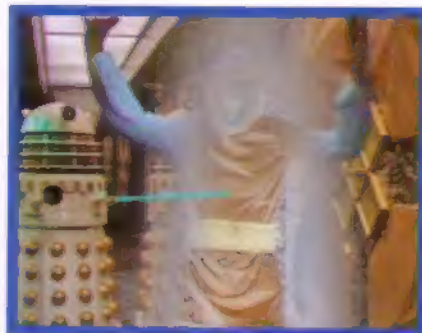

When the crafty Cult of Skaro arrived in 1930s New York, they zapped loads of people in Hooverville. Horrible!

8

Shocking

One Dalek shot a bolt of energy at some wet ground and electrocuted everyone in one go. What a shock!

7

Tasembeker

Tasembeker was working with Davros and his Daleks. They exterminated her when she disobeyed them. Aargh!

6

Accident

The Doctor once saw a Dalek destroy itself by accident, when blasts bounced back on to it. Boom!

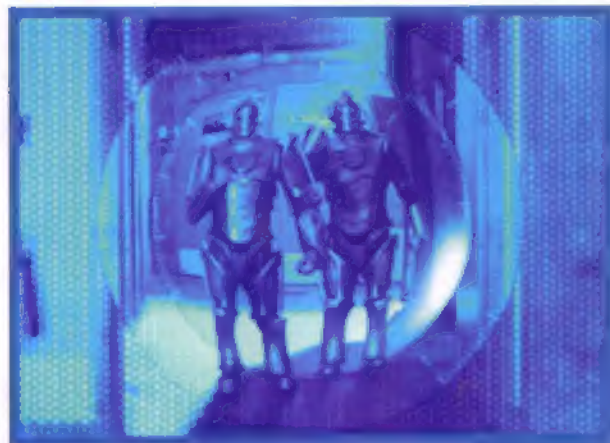

5

UNIT

Dozens of angry Daleks appeared in the UNIT base in present-day New York and only Martha was able to escape.

Cybermen

Daleks don't make friends. So when they met the Cybermen, we all knew what the result would be. Mass extermination!

Dalek Sec Hybrid

This creature was created by a hideous Dalek experiment. Unhappy with the results, the Daleks got rid of it as soon as they could.

Captain Jack

We were shocked when Jack was hit by Dalek blasters, but we were even more shocked when he came back to life.

Daleks think they are supreme beings – and if you don't look like a Dalek, it's more than likely they'll exterminate you. They tried to exterminate their creator, Davros, but somehow the dangerous scientist survived.

The biggest Who

Do YOU have the answers?

MYSTERIES!

What are they?

There have been some major mysteries in Doctor Who over the last few years. Some have been solved but many remain unanswered. One thing's for sure — everything links up eventually. It's just a matter of time...

I was the first one ever to be signed up for the Time Agency. They were so proud of me. The Face of Boe, they called me.

We all know that Captain Jack can't die. But if he lives for millions of years will he eventually turn into the bodiless Face of Boe?

WHOOSH!

When the Source brought the Doctor's daughter, Jenny, back to life, she shot off in a rocket to explore the universe. But where is she now?

When the Master died, the Doctor burnt his body. But someone with red nails and a sinister laugh took his ring from the ashes. Who could it be?

Sorry, can't stop. What are you going to do? Tell my dad?

Your song is ending, sir. It is returning through the dark. And then, Doctor... Oh but then, he will knock four times.

Doctor, she is returning.

Solved!

There were lots of mysteries in Pompeii! The Doctor was told, 'she is returning'. This was about Rose. Someone also said there was something on Donna's back. This was the Time Beetle.

Carmen's predictions on San Helios were spot on. But her final ones were the most chilling of all. What is returning and who will knock four times?

The Doctor's real name is a secret! Only one person in the whole universe knows it - River Song. What do you think it is?

Even the word 'Doctor' is false. Your real name is hidden. It burns in the stars of the cascade of Medusa herself.

Your turn!

Write what you think the answers are here:

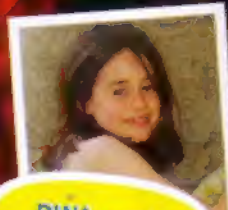

- Is Jack the Face of Boe?.....
- Who took the Master's ring?.....
- What is the Doctor's real name?.....
- What is returning?.....
- Who will knock four times?.....

DWA reader
Lily Demetriou's fave scene!

Three children have disappeared and it's got something to do with a creepy clown. Sarah Jane decides to investigate...

1

Sarah Jane and Clyde arrive at a creepy circus museum.

Welcome to the Circus of Horrors.

2

Inside the museum, a ringmaster appears from nowhere!

Welcome, welcome to Spellman's Magical Museum.

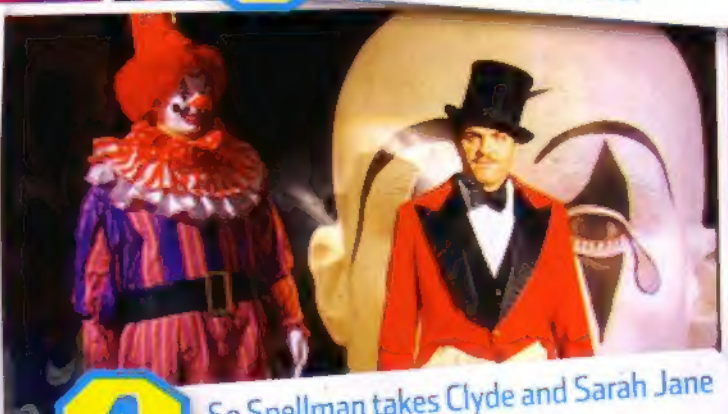

My name is Sarah Jane Smith. I'm a journalist.

Elijah Spellman at your service.

3

They introduce themselves. Sarah Jane tells him that she wants to talk about clowns.

4

So Spellman takes Clyde and Sarah Jane into a room full of them...

Even clowns have their dark days.

And that's exactly the kind of clown I'm interested in Mr Spellman. One that makes children disappear.

Sarah Jane, look at this.

6

Clyde spots a picture of the Pied Piper. He's dressed like one of the clowns.

5

Even though Sarah Jane is scared of clowns, she's determined to get to the bottom of the mystery of the missing children.

COOL WHO ACTION EVERY WEEK!

7

Mr Spellman disappears. They make a run for it and bump into Luke and Rani, who have to come to investigate for themselves.

Luke!

Mum!

8

There's no time for a proper chat though.

9

The clowns have started moving – the gang needs to get out of there, fast!

CRUNCH!

DID YOU KNOW?

Creepy robot clowns appeared in a Doctor Who story called The Greatest Show in the Galaxy.

11

But Spellman cuts off their exit and changes into the Pied Piper before their eyes.

I am the Pied Piper, who conjured away a whole town's infants, and has chilled the hearts of parents for more than seven centuries.

10

Sarah Jane sonics the clowns, so they can escape – hurrah!

WREEE!

12

He changes again into a terrifying clown. How will Sarah Jane and her friends ever escape?

Now I am Odd Bob the Clown. I am all that you fear the most. And you are mine to feed on!

DOCTOR WHO

Aliens of London

This week's INTERVIEW

Meet the man who brings monsters to life - Neill Gorton!

What's your job?

I'm a Prosthetics Designer for Doctor Who. We design the monsters - the real, physical ones as opposed to the CGI ones.

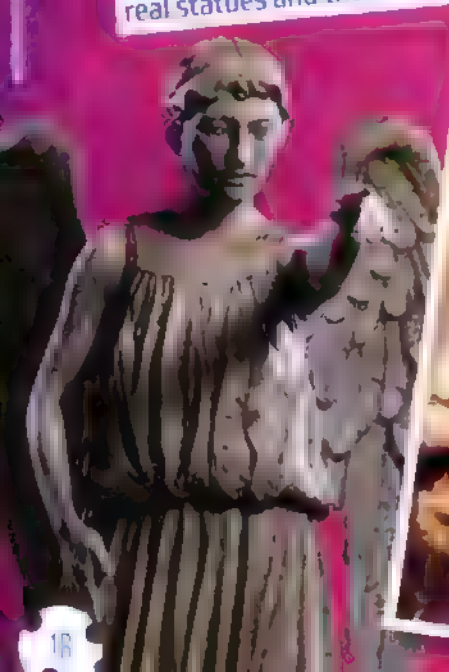

How much time is it on a scale of 1-10?

Oh, it's about a 14! I mean how many people can say they get to make monsters for a living?

MONSTER MA

How do you create a new monster?

Everything starts with the script. So it will say, "Eight-foot, baby-faced monsters that fart a lot," and you do some sketches and then say, "Is this what you were thinking of?" Other ones will be more obvious, like the Weeping Angels. We just looked at real statues and then made something similar.

Cyber heads

Which monster have taken the longest?

The Cybermen and the Sontarans were the biggest job. If you're building one of something it is quite quick and easy. If you're building 10 of something, you turn into a mini factory. So it's a lot more work.

Neill and Slitheen

EXCLUSIVE!

I'M QUITE FOND OF DAVROS

It was only the final chapter to the Doctor's story

How long do you spend on each episode?

All we ever get at best is six weeks. So we have to work every hour to get it completed. It's not a nine-to-five job!

What has been your favourite creation?

I'm quite fond of Davros. When I was seven years old, I saw Davros on TV and thought, where on earth did they find that really ugly old man to play that part? The day I realised it was actually make-up and prosthetics it suddenly sparked an interest and inspired me to do what I do now.

Have you ever worn any of your creations yourself?

You usually put things on your own head when you are working on a design just to see if it works. But as a rule I don't tend to go home of an evening and sit on the train wearing an Ood mask or anything like that!

Answer

beneath me.

I can't wait to see my old friends again.

Doctor, have you noticed something?

Those purple consoles... Everyone seems to have them! What do you think they are?

Later, in a computer shop...

The Tesseract is the latest brain-training craze. The aim is to build a virtual, four-dimensional cube through a series of puzzles.

It looks like fun. Can I try, Doctor?

The game is almost impossible to solve. The first three dimensions are quite simple, of course, but the fourth...

Oh, that's brilliant, that is. Look, Wolfgang! It's a spiny, holography, hyper-cubey type thingy.

At that moment, nearby...

We're getting a signal, master. Someone else has solved the Tesseract.

Excellent! Bring them to me.

Excellent! Bring them to me.

Meanwhile...

Hey, Rob, Suze. I've been looking for you everywhere.

Suze?

Just like everyone else I've met today...
So busy with those brain-training things, they're ignoring me!

And these posters. I've been seeing them all over the campus - missing students.
What's going on around here?

MISSING

Not too far away...

You know,
this Tesseract is an ingenious little gadget.
Almost too clever by half, in fact.

Here, Wolfie, is that a space hopper I can see in that window? I've always wanted a space hopper!

At last, I get to have a go on this thing!

But, suddenly...

Hey, what do you think you're...?
Doctor!

No use shouting, kid.
Your friend's too far away to hear you.

You're coming to our van with us.
We know someone who's just dying to meet you!

Soon, in a darkened warehouse...

You fools. This is the wrong human! I can read his brain patterns - and he isn't smart enough to have solved my puzzle!

I... I swear, master, this was the one. He's still holding the Tesseract, see?

You're an alien. A monster. Right here in the city. That's so cool!

I am the Bacothormeon - and I evolve by stealing the brains of geniuses to add their intellects to my own.

I get it. You designed the Tesseract to find the smartest people around, so that you could kidnap them!

Bacothormeon wants your brain, Wolfgang Rytter!

Hmmm. You are cleverer than you appear - and your mind is unusually open for a human. You may have something I can use, after all.

Meanwhile...

If I'm right, Heather, the Tesseract started broadcasting a signal when I solved it, leading Wolfgang's kidnappers right to him!

We can follow that signal in the TARDIS. I just hope we're not too late!

And so, just moments later...

Get away from him, you brute!

A Bacothormeon! Don't tell me someone's been experimenting on a Bacothormeon! Everyone knows that's a rotten idea!

What is this treat I can sense? A unique brain - an alien brain - filled with so much wonderful knowledge. I must have it!

Unnnhh! I can feel the Bacothormeon's brain power overwhelming me... But I mustn't... give in...

You want my knowledge? Here, take it! Ten lifetimes' worth of accumulated memories... In one big burst!

You're doing it, Doctor. You're beating it...

I overloaded the Bacothormeon's brain. It's lost all its stolen intelligence now, and is back to its normal self - dumb and peaceful.

Soon...

UNIT can deal with the Bacothormeon's henchmen. We'll take him back home. How about it, Wolfgang? Another trip into space?

I'm just glad you and Heather found me in time, Doctor. I like my brain where it is - in my head!

NEW DOCTOR WHO CLIP!

Hi Time Agent,

This week, the DWA team has been watching the brand-new Waters of Mars clip on the official Doctor Who website www.bbc.co.uk/doctorwho. The Doctor and his companion, Adelaide, stumble across a horrible sight - a man with a cracked face and scary white eyes drenching his victim with water from the palm of his hand. It's absolutely terrifying. We love it! And you can get a closer look at this yucky new monster in Doctor Who Adventures in two weeks' time.

This week's issue is full of scares, too! Stand by for the top 10 Dalek blasts, the biggest Who mysteries, an SJA photostory about a creepy clown and, best of all, the results of our monster art comp! Check inside to see if you've won!

Dalek fans won't want to miss out on the fantastic Dalek story we're giving away on CD. It's called The Mutant Phase and stars Peter Davison as the Fifth Doctor. And that's not all. You also get a mystery Who inflatable. We wonder which one you'll get?

Watch out for monsters!
